

ABSTRACT

Embodiments of the invention provide a method for determining network topology. The method includes capturing and storing channelized data with a network analyzer, interleaving the channelized data into a unitary data stream in chronological order, and processing the unitary data stream to extrapolate indicators of network elements.

223339_1